Here's what one camper's parents had to say about Camp Round-Up!

Letter to the Editor Kansas City Star August 5, 2007:

During the third week of July, our 9 year old son had the pleasure of attending Camp Round-Up, a day camp for kids with autism spectrum disorders. This was our first experience with Camp Round-Up, presented by H.O.R.S.E., Helping Others Reach Success & Excellence HORSEhelppeople.Org H.O.R.S.E. offered a delightful, well-organized day of just plain fun for these kids, who many times are unable to take part to the same extent in other day camps. Our son was introduced to the use of horses for therapy in such a fun way that he just thought it was all part of the games! Throw in some fishing, painting, crafts, games and cooling off with water every day, and Camp Round-Up was a perfect summer week..... Thank you for giving our son a week he will never forget. We appreciate it so much.
